Gilleland is new chief of WUSD

■ Assistant at San Bernardino is given a four-year contract as top official for West Sac's schools

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's school board on Thursday made the final decision on hiring a new superintendent with plenty of good feeling and little comment from the public.

The board emerged from a closed session discussion of the possible hiring and went immediately to an agenda item in public session. For the first time, district officials named their final selection and then proceeded to ratify his four-year contract.

"It gives me great pleasure to say that Washington Unified School District has hit a grand slam with this selection, and I'd like you to welcome Dr. Dayton Gilleland as superintendent," said board president Dave Westin to the crowd.

Gilleland is currently an assistant superintendent at San Bernardino's much-larger school district.

"It truly is a responsibility of awe," he said after his introduction. "Thank you very much for your trust and confidence."

Gilleland vowed to keep communication open with West Sacramento people and groups as he takes over the helm at WUSD. He mentioned that he already has met with members of the Broderick & Bryte Community Action Group (BBCAN) and parent-activist Dani Langford, for example.

Westin assured the crowd that he, like the rest of the board, takes full responsibility for the Gilleland's new contract—this in an age when school boards often tire of superintendents and have to buy out their contracts and shop for a replacement.

WUSD provided a copy of the new contract to the News-Ledger.

The contract begins with a salary of $169,000 per year, and includes benefits as well as a $500 allowance for a car and $250 for cell phone and home internet service. The contract also offers Gilleland $10,000 towards a down payment for a residence inside school district boundaries within 15 months, which must be returned if Gilleland quits or is fired for cause. The money is meant to encourage the school superintendent to live inside West Sacramento.

If the board chooses to terminate Gilleland without "cause," WUSD will owe him the salary remaining on his contract, to a maximum of 18 months' pay.

District officials invited public comment at the beginning of their search for a new superintendent, but kept the name of their final choice a secret—at least as secret as possible—until ratifying his contract.

The district is currently led by interim superintendent Michele Lawrence, who has been filling in since Steven Lawrence (no relation) resigned earlier this year to take a position in another district.

Gilleland's four-year contract begins on July 1.

Punishment for RCHS seniors: no cap & gown

Students accused of acts of vandalism during Wednesday night's 'senior class prank' not allowed to 'walk' during graduation ceremony

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A "senior class prank" at River City High School last Wednesday night led to disciplinary proceedings against about 16 kids, and a decision by Principal Stuart MacKay that approximately 13 graduating seniors among them would not be able to "walk" during last weekend's graduation ceremony.

Several dozen RCHS students went to Thursday's school board meeting to ask for that decision to be reversed in advance of the ceremonies. But Interim Superintendent Michele Lawrence made a statement that she supported the principal's decision.

What did the kids do on the campus that night before police showed up?

"There was a myriad of things that occurred," said Lawrence. "There was spray painting, there were signs taken from the neighborhood and put on school grounds, there were traffic cones taken from the city and put on school grounds. Some students were carrying jugs of bleach. And there was paper and trash on campus."

"Law enforcement personnel responded, so I'm assuming some community members called, and we're grateful," she said. "We're particularly grateful no children were hurt."

Lawrence said the decision to prevent the graduating seniors caught during the incident from participating in graduation ceremonies was relatively humane.

"My position was, given all the decisions we could have made, not allowing them to 'walk' was probably the least harmful to their future," she told the News-Ledger. "Pressing charges would potentially have affected their college entry or military service. They could have been expelled."

Some kids apprehended during the "prank" were not RCHS students at all, and some were not graduating seniors, she added. The underclassmen face other possible discipline, such as suspension.

Cops chip in to replace bike stolen from boy

A sad little story you may just recall from a News-Ledger 'Police Log' a month ago had a happy ending.

Ten-year old Elijah Dickens of West Sacramento was sitting in a parking lot when a 13-year old boy asked to ride Elijah's bike. Elijah refused, and the older boy pushed him and grabbed the bike.

A handful of West Sacramento police officers chipped in to buy Elijah a new bike—a Mongoose BMX-style bike.

The gift came from officers Godden, Lukins, Watson, Kinney, Barreiro and Frederito and from Sergeant Duchene, reports Lieutenant DeAnna Stevens.

ELIJAH DICKENS with Officer Steve Godden: after getting a helping hand from local police, Elijah has said he is interested in becoming a police officer when he grows up.

RCHS principal transfers

Open search underway for new River City principal

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Principal Stuart MacKay will leave his post at River City High School, the city's "comprehensive" high school, and take the helm at Yolo High, the city's smaller "alternative" high school, next fall.

Michele Lawrence, superintendent of Washington Unified School District, said the move was instigated by MacKay himself.

STUART MacKAY, Ph.D.: will move to continuation school in the fall

"This is not by any stretch of imagination a disciplinary move," she said. "Stuart elected to do this and approached the school district. He initiated it."

The principal's post at RCHS will now be filled by an "open search," she said. The "wide open process" will look through candidates from both inside and outside the district.

MacKay could not immediately be reached for comment.

WEST SAC COMPETES:

FEMA looking for office space that's free of earthquakes, floods

West Sacramento and other cities in the Sacramento region are competing to be the new home of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), which plans to move its current regional headquarters off an earthquake fault line in Oakland. Areas in a floodplain are not under consideration.

The agency hopes to lease 85,000 square feet and relocate 130 jobs beginning in February, 2012.

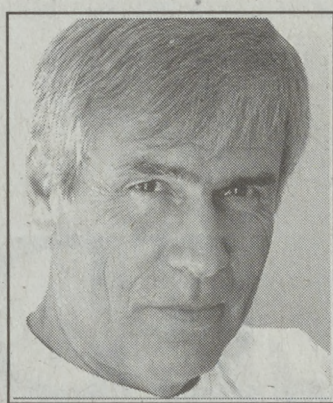

Old King Arthur sure could spin a fine tale

Note: Daryl is on vacation this week. Below is one of his favorite columns from the past.

King Arthur was a legendary king of medieval England and the main character in some of the most popular stories in world literature. For almost 1,000 years, writers and poets have told of Arthur's heroic deeds and the adventures of his brave Knights of the Round Table. In reality, a King Arthur probably did exist, but historians know very little about him. Storytellers passed along the earliest tales about him by word of mouth and may have based their stories on an actual British leader who won some minor victories over German invaders in the 500's (A.D.).

But no matter what the truth, King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table have always been wonderful characters for a good story, so even though the following one doesn't exactly qualify as high literature, I still consider it to be quite profound in its own little way, and definitely worth the telling:

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

Once upon a time, King Arthur was ambushed and imprisoned by the monarch of a neighboring kingdom. The monarch could have killed him, but was moved by Arthur's youth and idealism. So the monarch decided to mercifully offer Arthur his freedom, but only if he could answer a very hard question. And because of the question's great difficulty, he told Arthur he would give him a whole year to come up with a reply, but if after that period of time he still had no answer, then he would be forced to put him to death.

The question was, "What do women really want?"

Knowing that such a question would perplex even the most knowledgeable of men, young Arthur thought it an almost impossible task, but since it was better than death, he accepted the monarch's proposition to have an answer for him by year's end.

Because Arthur was known throughout the land as a man who would keep his word, he was allowed to return to his kingdom and he immediately began to poll everyone around him; the princess, the priests, the wise men, even the court jester. He spoke with everyone he could think of, both male and female, but no one seemed to be able to give him a satisfactory answer.

A number of those at court advised Arthur to consult a local old witch, saying that only she would know the answer. The price would be high, though, they warned him, as the witch was famous for the exorbitant prices she charged for her insights into the human condition. Finally, as the last day of the year approached, and with still no answer in hand, Arthur had no alternative but to talk to the old witch.

She agreed to answer the question, but only if Arthur would accept her price first. The old witch wanted to marry a handsome young man named Gawain, the most notable of the Knights of the Round Table, and Arthur's best friend.

Arthur was horrified by the request, as the witch was pockmarked and hideous, had only one tooth, smelled like sewage, and often made obscene noises for no particularly good reason. In fact, Arthur had never encountered such a repugnant creature in his whole life and he refused to force his good friend to marry her and have to endure such an awful burden.

Gawain, however, upon learning of the proposal, decided to have a talk with Arthur. He told him that nothing was too big a sacrifice compared to the loss of Arthur's life and the preservation of the Round Table.

"I will gladly marry, her, my Lord," Gawain bravely told Arthur, and as soon as the wedding was proclaimed, the old witch immediately answered Arthur's question thus: "What a woman really wants...is simply to be in charge of her own life."

Everyone instantly knew that the witch had uttered a great truth and that Arthur's life would be spared. And so it was, as the neighboring monarch soon granted Arthur his total freedom.

And what a wedding Gawain and the old witch had. But Arthur was torn between relief and anguish. Gawain was proper as always, gentle, thoughtful and courteous. However, the old witch put her worst manners on display and generally made everyone feel very uncomfortable.

The witch was pockmarked and hideous, had only one tooth, smelled like sewage, and often made obscene noises for no particularly good reason.

Then the fateful hour arrived. Gawain, steeling himself for a horrible experience, finally entered the marriage bedroom. But what a sight awaited him! There was the most beautiful woman he had ever seen! The astounded Gawain asked her what in the world had happened? The beauty replied that since he had been so kind to her when she had appeared as a witch, she would henceforth be her horrible, deformed self only half the time, and the other half, she would be her beautiful young maiden self.

"So, which would you want me to be during the day, and which during the night?" she asked Gawain with interest.

"What a cruel question," answered Gawain as he pondered his predicament. During the day, he thought to himself, I would have a beautiful woman to show off to my friends, but at night, in the privacy of my home, I would have an old witch. Or I could have a hideous witch by day and a beautiful lover at night with whom I could enjoy many intimate moments.

Noble Gawain finally took a deep breath and replied, "I wish you to choose for yourself."

Upon hearing this, the woman smiled warmly and announced, "Then I choose to be beautiful all the time for you, because unlike the other men I have known, you have respected me enough to let me be in charge of my own life."

So, you may ask, is there an actual moral to this little story? Well, of course there is, and it goes a little something like this:

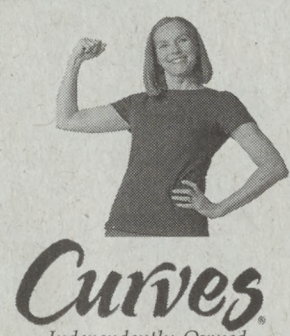

If a woman doesn't get her own way, things can get pretty darn ugly!

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The NBA Championship series heads back to the Staples Center in Los Angeles with the Boston Celtics leading the best-of-seven-series 3-2 and on the verge of the Celtics winning their 18th NBA title. Can Kobe bring back the Lakers to win the NBA title or will the Celtics go down in history as never have never blown a 3-2 lead in the Finals?

It's been the Kobe Bryant show for the Lakers, and not much of anything else from any of his Lakers compadres. Center Pau Gasol has been lonely under the boards and with Andrew Bynum limping around complaining about his bad knee the Lakers are struggling under the basket and on the verge of folding. Also, it doesn't help to have Ron Artest throwing up bricks and falling asleep on defense.

Couple of weeks ago I picked the Celtics to win the Finals in seven games so I'll stay with Boston but don't be surprised to see the seventh game go into double overtime! You gotta love this game!

World Cup Soccer

The USA World Cup team received their Christmas present early when England's goalie Robert Green when to one knee to field a harmless 25-yard shot from Clint Dempsey and the unlucky keeper let the ball bounce off his gloves into the net allowing the Red, White and Blue to tie England 1-1. The poor Englishman will probably have to swim back to the United Kingdom especially after his blunder happened on the Queen of England's birthday.

The U.S. Men's National Team's highly anticipated opening match of the 2010 FIFA World Cup against England on ABC was the most viewed World Cup first round match and fifth most-viewed World Cup match ever. The three-hour telecast, which included one hour of pre-match coverage, delivered a 6.1 household rating with 7,034,000 households tuned in and estimated 11 million viewers.

Next up for the United States on Friday, June 18th (7 a.m.) is Slovenia, who beat Algeria 1-0 and is on top of the leader board, followed by their last opening round match on June 23rd against Algeria. If the USA finishes second in Group C, the German Team will be waiting in the wings.

Mexico fared well considering they had the World Cup opening game against South Africa that resulted in a 1-1 draw but Mexico clearly knows what they have to do as they prepare for their next encounter against France on June 17th and then on June 22nd against Uruguay.

Soccer returned to Raley Field last Saturday with the San Jose Earthquakes defeating the Chivas USA 6-5 in a penalty shootout after the teams played a full game that ended 0-0. An announced crowd of 7,134 enjoyed the exhibition match between the two MLS teams in the inaugural Sacramento Cup.

Another interesting note is that the River Cats management donated the replacement sod (20,000 sq.ft.) around the infield to Rio Americano High School and the West Sacramento Parks and Recreation Department.

Diamond Notes

The Giants returned the "sweep broom" to the Oakland A's this weekend by taking all three games from their cross town rivals and sending the A's into a minor tail spin in the American League West Division.

The Giants (36-27) are quietly sneaking up on the division leading Padres winning 13 out of their last 19 games. The G-Men have cut San Diego's lead to a ½ game with the help of a new found line-up that boasts Andres Torres leading off and hitting over .300 followed by second baseman Freddy Sanchez, who is hitting .340 and then Audrey Huff is starting to club the ball with power and driving in runs.

The Giants, who averaged 4.06 runs per game through the series at Oakland when the A's swept the G-Men, now there average has increased to 4.73 so now with all this new found hitting in their batting order the pressure has been removed from Pablo Sandoval and Juan Uribe to produce all the run scoring opportunities and with rookie of the year candidate Buster Posey and old-timer, Pat Burrell providing some bottom of the order power the Giants are now real contenders especially with the league's best starting pitching ERA of 3.19.

The Oakland A's (32-33) have dropped four games behind the pace but will try and right the ship with three games in Chicago against the Cubs and another 3-game weekend series in St. Louis before they return to Oakland to host Cincinnati on Monday. Meanwhile the Giants will host Baltimore and then travel to Toronto on Friday for a weekend series against the Blue Jays.

River Cats

The River Cats (30-35) returned home for a 5-3 win over the Reno Aces to begin a crucial eight-game home stand. The good news for the Gatos is the pitching of Clay Mortensen who collected his Pacific Coast League-leading ninth victory of the season. You know the A's are also watching the progress of Mortensen (9-2, 3.96), who has a 3-0 record and 2.45 ERA in three June starts, allowing only three runs and four hits over 7.0 innings Monday, striking out nine and walking two.

The River Cats have several exciting promotions occurring at Raley Field during their June 14-21 home stand, including a "Free Money" Sweepstakes, Extreme Sports Night and a Father's Day Weekend Celebration.

On June 16th it's "Free Money" for fans entering the ballpark, or persons simply making a request at the Raley Field Box Office, will receive an envelope with Westmore Oaks class takes on 'solar cooking' project & spreads word

A second grade class at Westmore Oaks Elementary School used solar cooking ovens as the centerpiece for a multi-disciplinary class project.

"I received a 'Bright Ideas' grant from PG&E last year to purchase ovens and all the necessary materials," said teacher Jen Rhinehart. "Then, my students taught second- and first-grade students how to use the ovens. We then left the ovens and baking materials so the classes could bake their own cakes."

Rhinehart's students also chronicled the project in journals, wrote invitations to family members, and worked on photo albums. The project touched 200 students, one way or another, she said.

River City Gators

The Gators have locked up the No. 2 seed in the playoffs and will host the first round on Saturday, June 19th. The Gators, who suffered their second loss of the season last week to the Northbay Rattlers 23-10, will be playing at the New River City High School at 6 p.m. Ticket prices are $10.

Happy Father's Day – see ya next week!

Give your thoughts on need for new bridge

The "Sacramento River Crossings" planning project continues.

Leaders from the cities of Sacramento and West Sacramento are working with citizens to come up with a plan for whether, where or how to create new bridges linking the two cities.

As part of the process, you're invited to give your opinion in an online survey available until June 24.

Visit

www.cityofsacramento.org, choose the "Department of Transportation," then "Planning & Policy," and then "Sacramento River Crossings Alternatives Study."

You'll find a discussion of the project and a link to the survey.

An officer responded to a call for service on the 2300-block of West Capitol Avenue. An intoxicated 43-year old man at the scene was arrested for being unable to care for himself.

Child injured, horse killed in separate 'pit bull' dog attacks

The Yolo County Sheriff's Department reports two different attacks involving "pit bull" dogs this month. In one, a child was injured. In the other, a horse was apparently killed by two dogs.

The sheriff's department's animal services division responded to the report of a pit bull dog attacking a child in Winters on the evening of June 6. The child had been on bike, with the child's family, in an alley behind the dog owner's residence. A two-year old female dog got into the alley through an unsecured gate. It bit the child in the face, removing a portion of cheek tissue, said the sheriff's department.

Owner Charlee Gonzalez turned the dog over to the department for quarantine, and later agreed to let the dog euthanize the animal and test it for rabies. There was no evidence of a current rabies vaccination.

Early on the morning of June 1, the sheriff's department responded to a pasture on Road 98B in Woodland after a horse was found dead, apparently killed by dogs.

"Upon arrival, the two pit bull dogs covered in blood were found guarding the carcass," said the sheriff's department. "The horse was observed to have a broken front leg and multiple bite wounds over more than 60 percent of its body."

The quarterhorse was the companion of its owner, an elderly woman, added the press release.

Animal Services officers followed the dogs to their residence and cited their owner, Oscar Villafana, Jr., for two counts of "animal at large" and two of "animal trespass." He relinquished the animals, and they were euthanized the same day.

The sheriff's department reminds dog owners to keep their pets contained on their own property or on a leash, and to keep them licensed, vaccinated and wearing tags. Owners can bring dog licenses current with no penalty through July 31. License fees are $10 for spayed or neutered dogs and $25 for unaltered dogs. Vaccinations are available through Yolo Animal Services.

Death in Yolo County Jail

A man from the Davis area is believed to have killed himself while in custody at the Monroe Detention Center (Yolo County Jail) in Woodland.

David Bradley Van Buren, a transient, was found at about 9:20 p.m. on Saturday, June 5, "unresponsive in his cell," said the sheriff's department. He was transported to a nearby hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

"The inmate came into custody Thursday afternoon and gave no indication that he was a threat to his own safety or the safety of anyone else," said Sheriff Ed Prieto in a press release.

The press release added that Van Buren had been in a cell by himself, and officers had checked all the inmates in his unit "just minutes" before he was found responsive. The death was an "apparent suicide," said the sheriff's department.

Van Buren is believed to have hanged himself with a bedsheet.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

The right to 'walk' & a case for wind

Most people the News-Ledger has talked to have supported the school district's decision to discipline the students caught pulling a "prank" on the River City High School campus. That discipline includes, for the seniors caught in the crowd, a denial of their privilege to "walk" during graduation ceremonies.

Not everyone in on the stunt last Wednesday committed grievous property damage to the school. But this seems as good a time as any to learn the lesson that, as an allegedly responsible adult, you need to be careful what you get mixed up in.

Some of the pranksters simply trashed the campus — a rather unimaginative "prank." The district needs to draw a line somewhere, and can't afford to come down too softly on school vandalism.

It's a shame. But it is also justice.

This idea comes from an engineer in the Sacramento area:

The Port of West Sacramento is trying to "go green," with solar power and environmentally-friendly businesses on site. The same port also controls scores of miles of land in narrow strips along the levee of its deep water channel.

Why not use those strips of land to farm the wind? Why not take a look at the feasibility of generating power from hundreds of wind turbines on the unused acreage along the deep water channel?

DIFFICULTY: ***

* Moderate  Difficult  GO FIGURE!

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEW

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"A Star Is Born" (Deluxe Edition) (Not Rated) — Directed by George Cukor, featuring songs by Harold Arlen and Ira Gershwin, 1954's "A Star Is Born" starring Judy Garland and James Mason finally gets the DVD release it deserves. Garland plays aspiring singer Esther Blodgett, Mason is Norman Maine, an alcoholic actor whose career is fading. After Esther saves him from an embarrassing moment at a Hollywood function, Maine tries repeatedly to convince her to consider a career in film. She finally accepts, changes her name to Vicki Lester and takes a part in a musical, which skyrockets her to fame. But her newfound celebrity and his alcoholism are a dangerous and volatile mix that leads the couple to a tragic incident.

This deluxe edition spans three discs, with two discs packed to the brim with special features, including alternate takes, effects reels, newsreel footage, the 1954 TV special of the film's premiere and tons of other goodies too numerous to mention. The movie itself is a restored 176-minute version and includes all the footage edited out following the premiere and believed lost. Using the restored negative, it was scanned at a 6k rate — the highest resolution any film has been scanned to date — for the Blu-Ray release.

"Stones in Exile" (Not Rated) — Nearly 40 years ago, during the summer of 1971, the Rolling Stones fled England for the south of France to avoid England's 93 percent income tax. They'd kicked their manager who'd brought them to the brink of financial disaster, were moving to a new label and Keith Richards was ripped to the gizzards on heroin, so why not record a new album, right? And that's what they did. The band slapped together a makeshift recording studio in Keith's basement, and between orgies of sex and drugs, laid down the basic guts of what would become "Exile on Main Street," arguably one of their greatest albums. To tell the story of "Exile," director

Judy Garland

Stephen Kijak drew from vintage news reports, photos, film footage of an unreleased documentary made at the time, plus interviews with the band and other celebs. The result is an enjoyable and entertaining look at a "creative process" that should've resulted in crushing disaster, but instead yielded a masterpiece of classic rock 'n' roll.

Spicy Grilled Shrimp

Shrimp cook quickly, so keep an eye on them, and you will have a flavorful addition to your meal in no time.

- 1 pound large shrimp, peeled and deveined
- 1 teaspoon vegetable oil
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne (ground red pepper)
- 1/8 teaspoon salt

1. Prepare grill for direct grilling on medium-high. In a large bowl, toss shrimp with vegetable oil, cayenne and salt to coat. Place shrimp on hot grill.
2. Cook 3 to 5 minutes or until shrimp are opaque throughout, turning once. Transfer shrimp to plate and let cool 5 minutes. Serves 4.

Easy French Sauté Creates Heart-Healthy Recipe

Scallops are sautéed in hot canola oil, which can take the heat.

(NAPS)—Sautéing, the number one cooking method in America, and canola oil offer a passport to success with global cuisines.

“The word ‘sauté’ comes from the French verb meaning ‘to jump,’ so the oil needs to be hot enough that the food does not stick to the pan but jumps around,” says culinary expert Tori Ritchie in a new “Sauté Today” series of CanolaInfo recipes and videos involving sautéing, sweating and sweetening for a range of flavors and textures. “Canola oil is perfect for sautéing because it's versatile, heat-tolerant and heart-healthy.”

Sear scallops in canola oil in this simple French sauté. Tip: Pat scallops dry before adding to the pan or they won't sear correctly.

Sautéed Scallops with Peas in Lemon-Tarragon Sauce

Serves 4

- 12 sea scallops (about 14 oz.)
- 2 Tbsp canola oil
- 1 small shallot, minced
- 1 cup top-quality, low-sodium chicken or vegetable broth
- 1 lb. fresh peas, shelled, or 1 cup frozen peas (thawed)
- 2 Tbsp freshly squeezed lemon

Managing Your Money

Online Banking: What You Should Know

(NAPS)—Only 15 years ago, the world of personal money management changed forever with the introduction of online banking.

Today, with high-speed Internet access common and mobile phones even more so, people not only appreciate but demand the ability to bank “anytime, anywhere.” While it's possible to simply check your balance online or transfer money—among the first two services offered—today, most banks offer a wider variety of services.

Here are a few that may save you time and money and help the environment:

Budget: If you have trouble making ends meet each month—or if you want to get a better handle on what's coming in and where it's going—try online budgeting.

Many banks also offer the option to track your spending automatically with a tool such as Wells Fargo's My Spending Report.

Save: It's now possible to set up an automatic savings plan online to help meet a specific goal like a down payment, or a long-term objective like retirement.

Spend: Online bill-pay services enable you to pay bills quickly, cheaply and securely. And newer services such as person-to-person payments let you easily transfer money, making it more convenient to split the check at lunch or to pay your babysitter.

Go: New mobile banking services allow you to do all your banking on the go, and the newest—text banking, offered by some banks—don't even require that you sign up online first!

While it's possible to simply check your balance online or transfer money, today, most banks offer a wider variety of services.

The technological innovations that have revolutionized the way people manage their personal finances have changed small-business banking as well.

Jennifer Hogan owns a successful women's accessories company called Toss Designs (www.tossdesigns.com) and once spent hours each month at the bank sending wire transfers and reconciling accounts.

“I thought the technology that allowed me to bank over the phone was amazing, but now we do everything online with Wells Fargo, which is even more amazing—I save at least 10 hours a week,” she said.

The ability to manage invoicing and receivables online can speed up payment and maximize cash flow.

Whether you're an individual or own a small business, if you haven't tried online banking in a while, it may be time to take another look. Today's online banking is faster, cheaper, greener and more secure than ever before.

Regional sewage district trims its estimate of future discharges

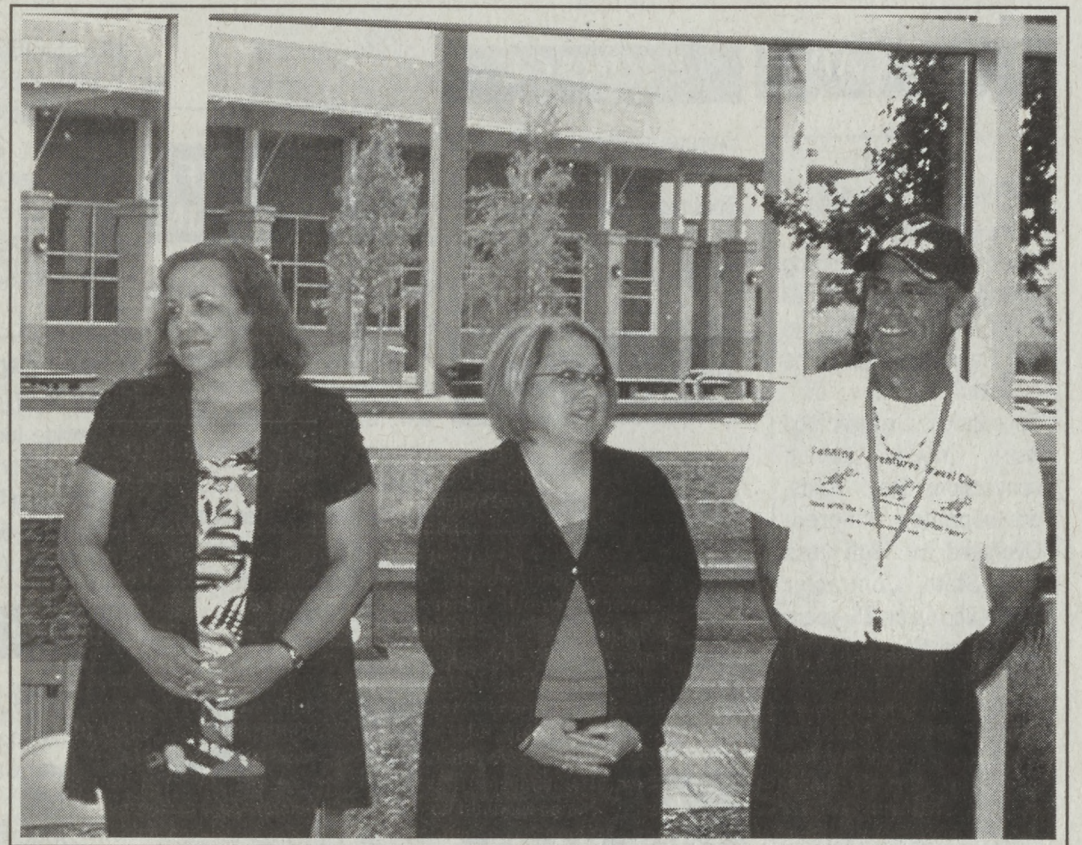

The Sacramento Regional County Sanitation District (SRCSD) has dropped its formal request to increase its permitted discharges into the Sacramento River.

The sewage district serves 1.3 customers in the Sacramento region, including West Sacramento. Its treatment plant near Elk Grove is currently allowed a maximum average dry weather flow of 181 million gallons per day, and SRCSD had dropped a request to state regulators to allow that number to go to 218 millions of gallons per day (mgd). The district's actual average flow is about 150 mgd, said SRCSD.

The district said that it is comfortable dropping the request for several reasons. One is that water conservation efforts have been effective and per capita water use in Sacramento has dropped. State legislation has created conservation measures expected to further reduce the amount of wastewater generated in the future. And SRCSD has made inroads on water recycling.

"We believe the capacity increase request is the right thing to do at this time, but of course we will closely monitor any possible conditions that could alter our needs," said Mary Snyder, SRCSD District Engineer, in a press release.

adopted in 2004, "A Landmark Tree means any living tree that is especially prominent, stately or which is of historical significance as designated by the City Council." Since 2004 many Heritage Trees have been identified and protected under the ordinance. The city has benefited greatly by this work and has been awarded Tree City Status as a result.

This tree fits the definition of a Landmark Tree with its 22' 4" circumference trunk (80 inch DBH), its stately appearance and its historical significance. Volunteers of West Sacramento Conservancy with the assistance of Yolo County Archives have discovered through a search of deeds and maps that this tree was raised on property owned by C.W. Reed who established his famous Washington Nursery there in 1855. The nursery was an extremely successful operation, selling as many as 300,000 trees to farmers in Northern California.

When the tree was recently vandalized, West Sacramento Conservancy called a Loomis based arborist who volunteered to assess the damage. Some of his comments were "great tree, great soil, great location, great habitat." The damage has already been repaired thanks to the timely response of West Sacramento's Tree Manager Dena Kirtley.

This tree deserves official status of Landmark Tree. West Sacramento Conservancy plans to make a presentation on this subject at the June 16 City Council meeting at 7PM. JERI WINGFIELD West Sacramento

The News-Ledger is now on Facebook, the popular social networking website on the Internet. Other users of Facebook can find the newspaper there by doing a search on Facebook for "West Sacramento News-Ledger."

Over 200 people have already signed up as "fans" in the first few weeks since the News-Ledger created a Facebook page.

The Facebook page -- like the newspaper's website at www.news-ledger.com -- doesn't contain all the articles, ads and photos from the printed edition. To see all the news, you still have to subscribe to the newspaper.

But the Facebook page will serve as a link to some special features, such as photos that didn't make it into the print edition because of a lack of space.

For instance, you can visit the Facebook page of the News-Ledger to see additional pictures from the West Sacramento Community Day Parade held last October. Or see more photos of the "celebrity fashion show" at city hall held on March 31.

See you there!
